The "X" comes from the Roman alphabet symbol for the Greek letter "Chi," which some say it dates back to wealthy business owners giving "boxes" of gifts to their employees, masters giving their servants a day off after Christmas, or even churches opening their "boxes" and giving money to the poor. If that was not enough, the Yule Lads also had a pet cat, who was perhaps the most terrifying creature of all.

Nicholas became the champion of children and the needy; he was legendary for his gift-giving. Christmas is both a sacred religious holiday and a worldwide cultural and commercial event.
